

Just One Candle

Glenn Campbell

Song #2

I was walk in' down by Jor-dan think-ing of my sin. That was when I found for-give ness com-ing from with - in. Eve - ry step that you take on the road of life is haunt-ed by doubts and burd - ened with strife. It's a world of dan - ger and need - less lies, so you give it your best and com - prom ise. When all hope is gone, you look for the light. It takes just one candle to light the night. It takes just one smile — to ease the pain, to car - ry you for ward to love a - gain. If there is a God in Heav en look - ing out for me, I don't need to ask for - give ness. I know He can see. For when I was a - lone by the riv - er - side, I just want - ed peace and a place to die. There was no one to see me cry that day, so I picked my - self up and walked a - way. When all hope is gone, you look for the light. It takes just one candle to light the night. It takes just one smile — to ease the pain, to car-ry you for ward to love a - gain. If there is a God in Heav en look - ing out for me, He don't need my ad - or - a - tion, just my hon est - y. Hon - est - y — and I'm the host. — It's lies in - side — can't give up — with-out a fight. For when I was a-lone by the riv - er-side. There was on - ly my self with no - where to hide. Be - cause it don't mat - ter what you be - lieve. It's on - ly your - self you must nev - er de - ceive. When all hope is gone, you look for the light. It takes just one can dle to light the night. It takes just one smile — to ease the pain, to car-ry you for ward to love a - gain. I was walk in' down by Jor - dan
